Dedication

To our Mothers and Fathers
All honor we wish to show
By the dedication of this book
With love a-plenty!
Many years you've cared for us,
Many cares you've had for us.
In this way love upon you we bestow.

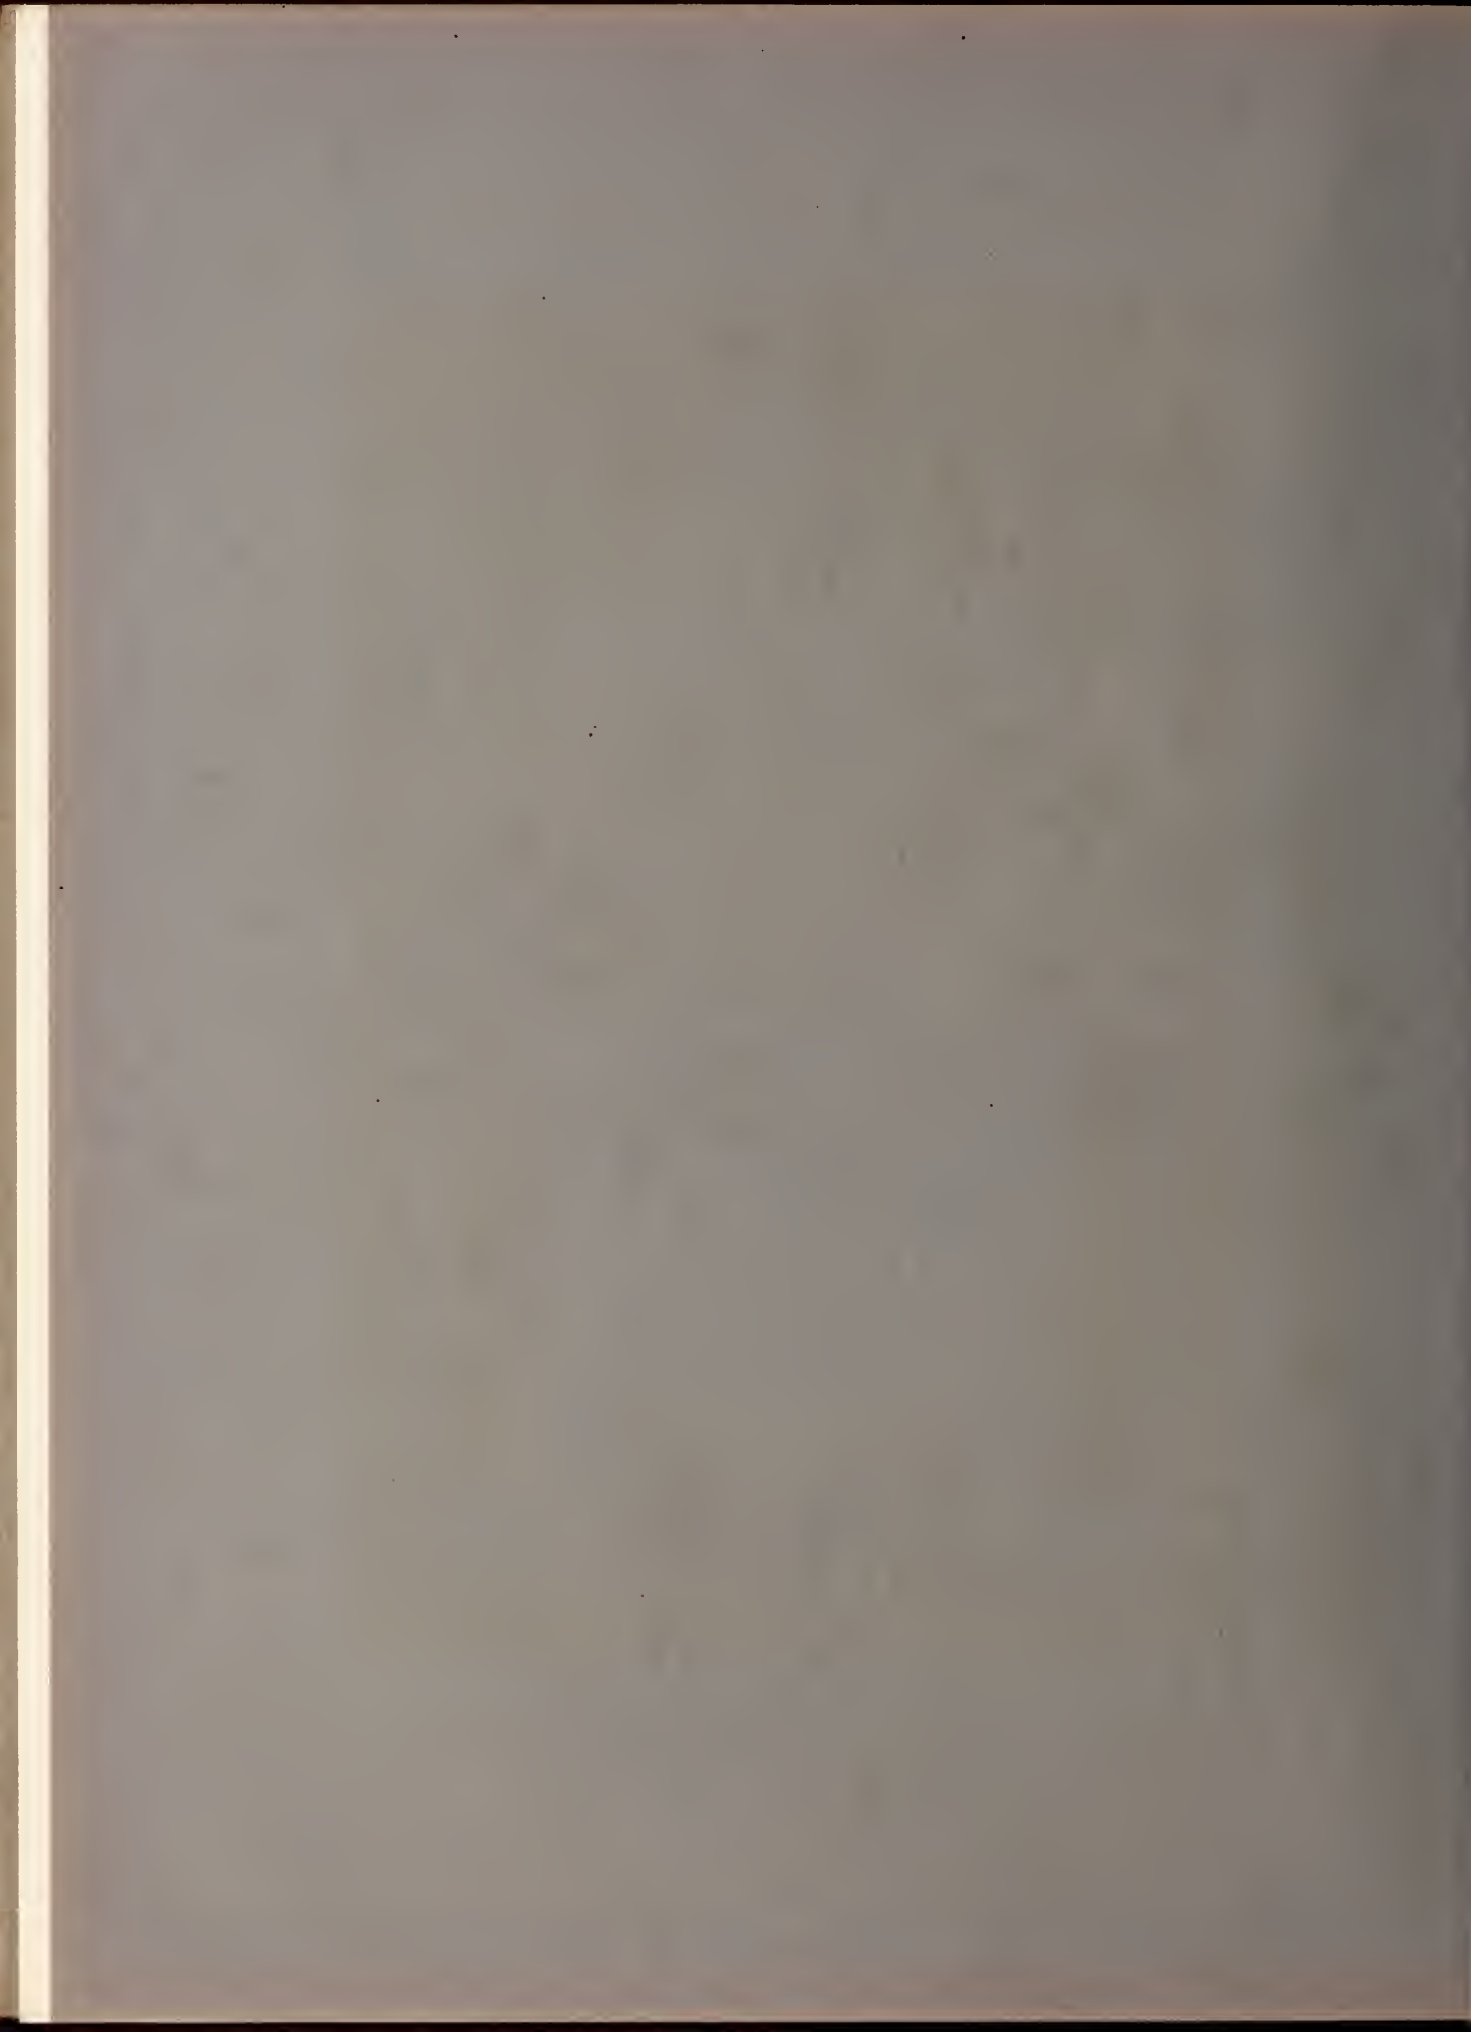

"Builder and maker, thou,
of houses not made
with hands!"

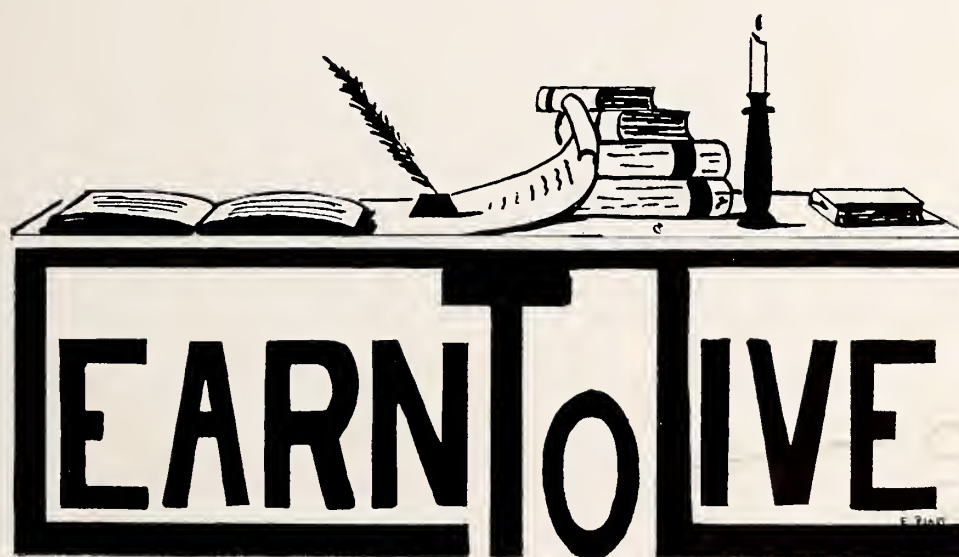

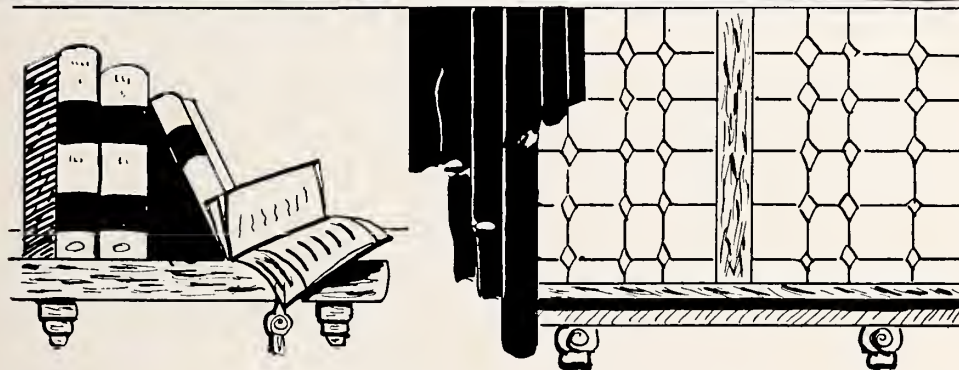

LIVE TO LEARN

Alma Mater

Tune: "Believe Me, If All Those Endearing Young Charms."

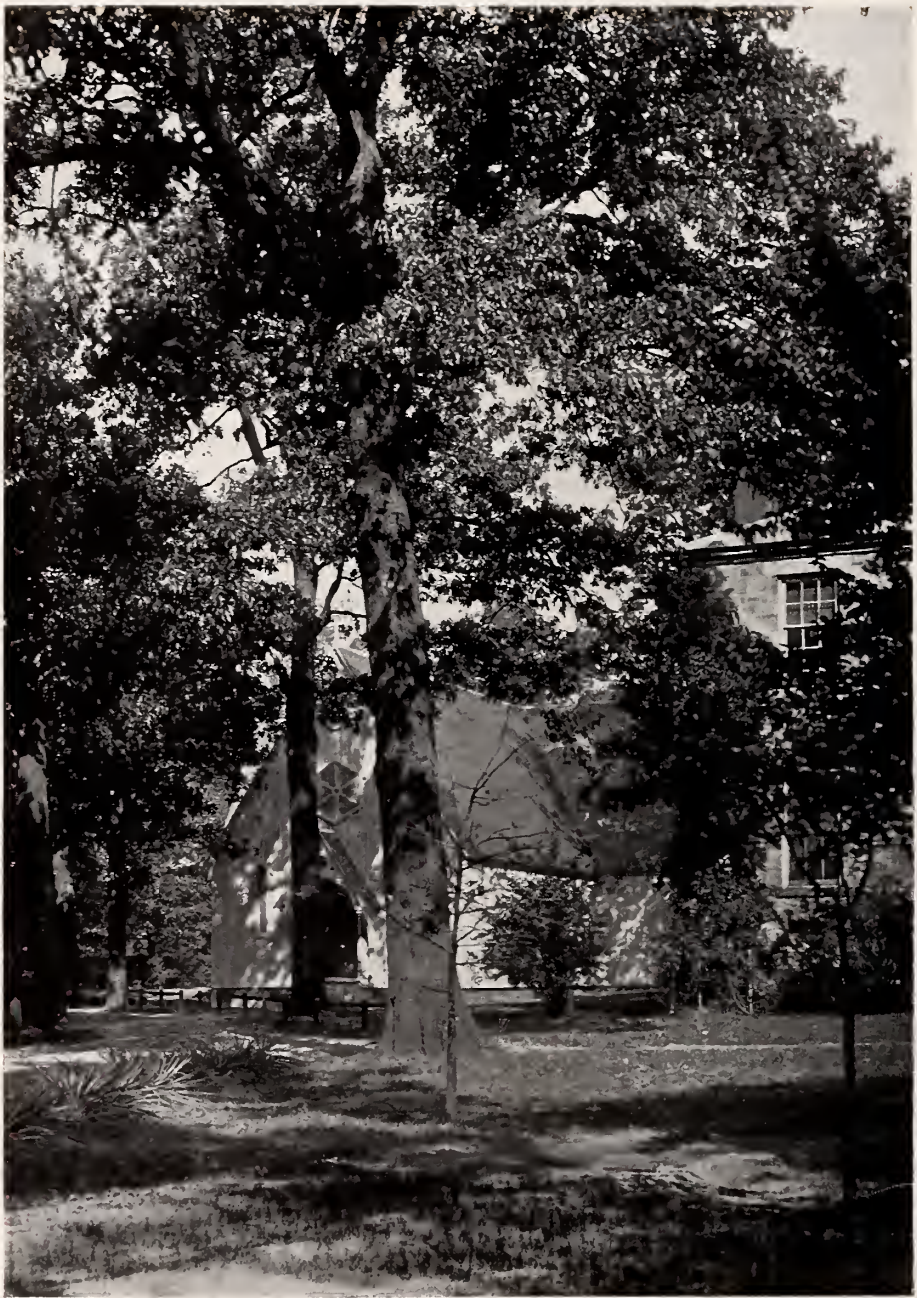

ST. MARY'S! wherever thy daughters may be
They love thy high praises to sing,
And tell of thy beauties of campus and tree
Around which sweet memories cling;
They may wander afar; out of reach of thy name,
Afar out of sight of thy grove,
But the thought of Saint Mary's aye kindles a flame
Of sweet recollections and love.

Beloved Saint Mary's! How great is our debt!
Thou hast cared for thy daughters full well;
They can never thy happy instructions forget,
Nor fail of thy virtues to tell.
The love that they feel is a heritage pure;
An experience wholesome and sweet.
Through fast rolling years it will grow and endure
Be a lamp and a guide to their feet.

May the future unite all the good of the past
With the best that new knowledge can bring.
Ever onward and upward thy course! to the last
Be thou steadfast in every good thing.
Generations to come may thy fair daughters still
Fondly think on thy halls and thy grove,
And carry thy teachings o'er woodland and hill
Of earnestness, wisdom and love.

"The gateway to knowledge, to lasting friendships, to all things fair and lovely."

"And silence, made more lovely,
Because of others silent."

"The Present and the Future,
Embodied in the grey stone of the Past."

THE ART BUILDING—SNOW COVERED

"If we lead a life of pleasure
'Tis no matter where or how!"

"A mother's love commemorates a daughter's devotion."

Indeed The child IS Father of The man

"What will dearest Muvver Say!" lisped wee Kate
As she drew her high chair up—
Three minutes late!

(Recorded history concerning Catherine Albertson, aged two years.)

I always ask
Whatever the task
To be the lass
To lead the class!

Earliest thesis of V. H. H. aged five years.

Mid trunks and train-tracks,
Tiny drum and horn,
Our little bustling Bill
Is the busiest baby born!

(Extract from a letter written by mother of our business manager when he had reached the ripe age of eighteen months.)

"Come here, listen to this folks
Listen! Do! in pity!
Have I ever told you this?
It is very witty.

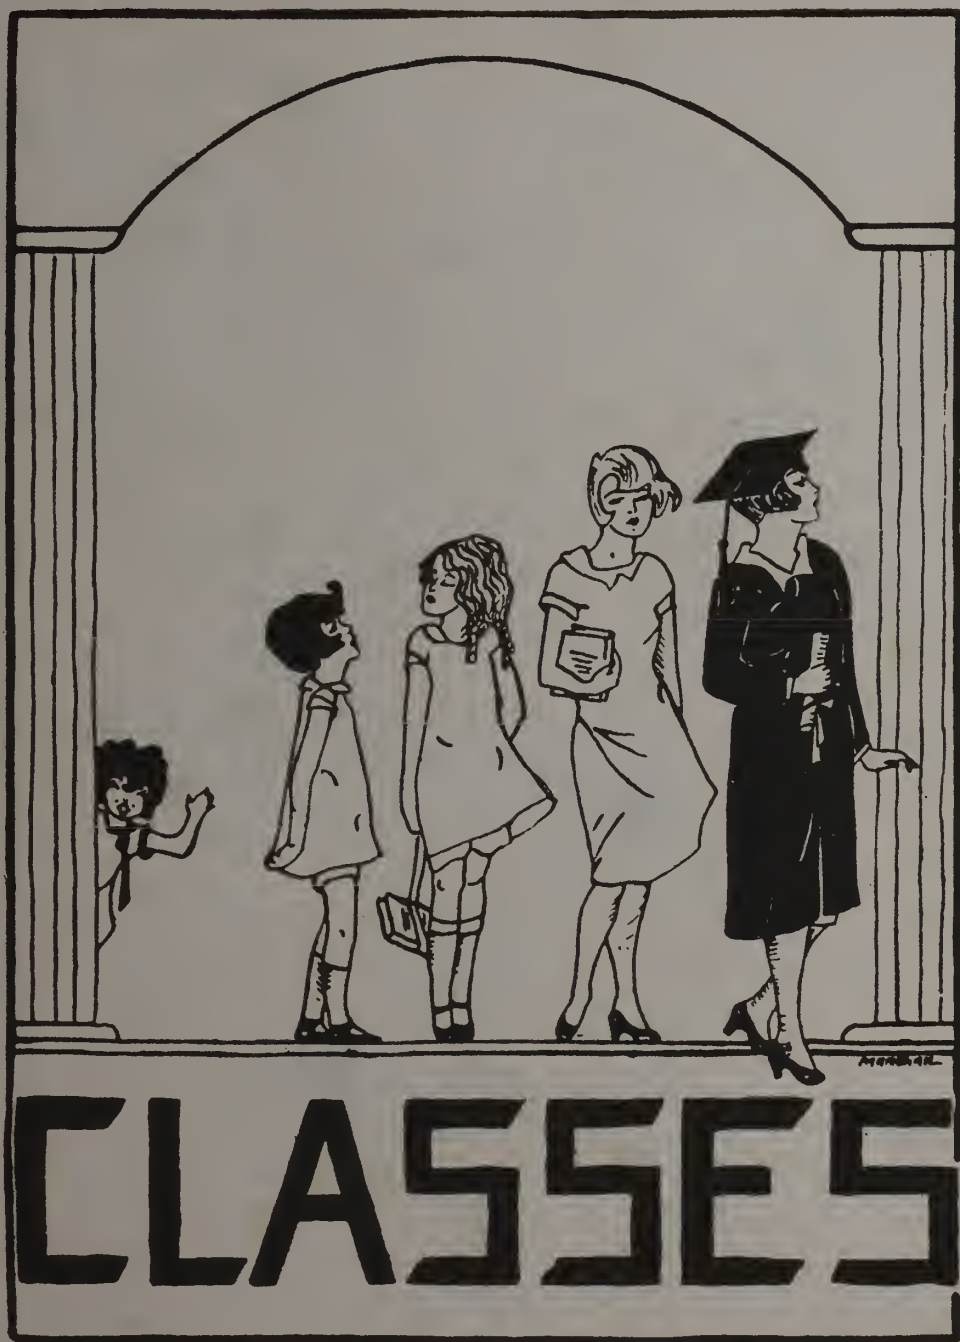

(Warry Way at the tender age of four.)

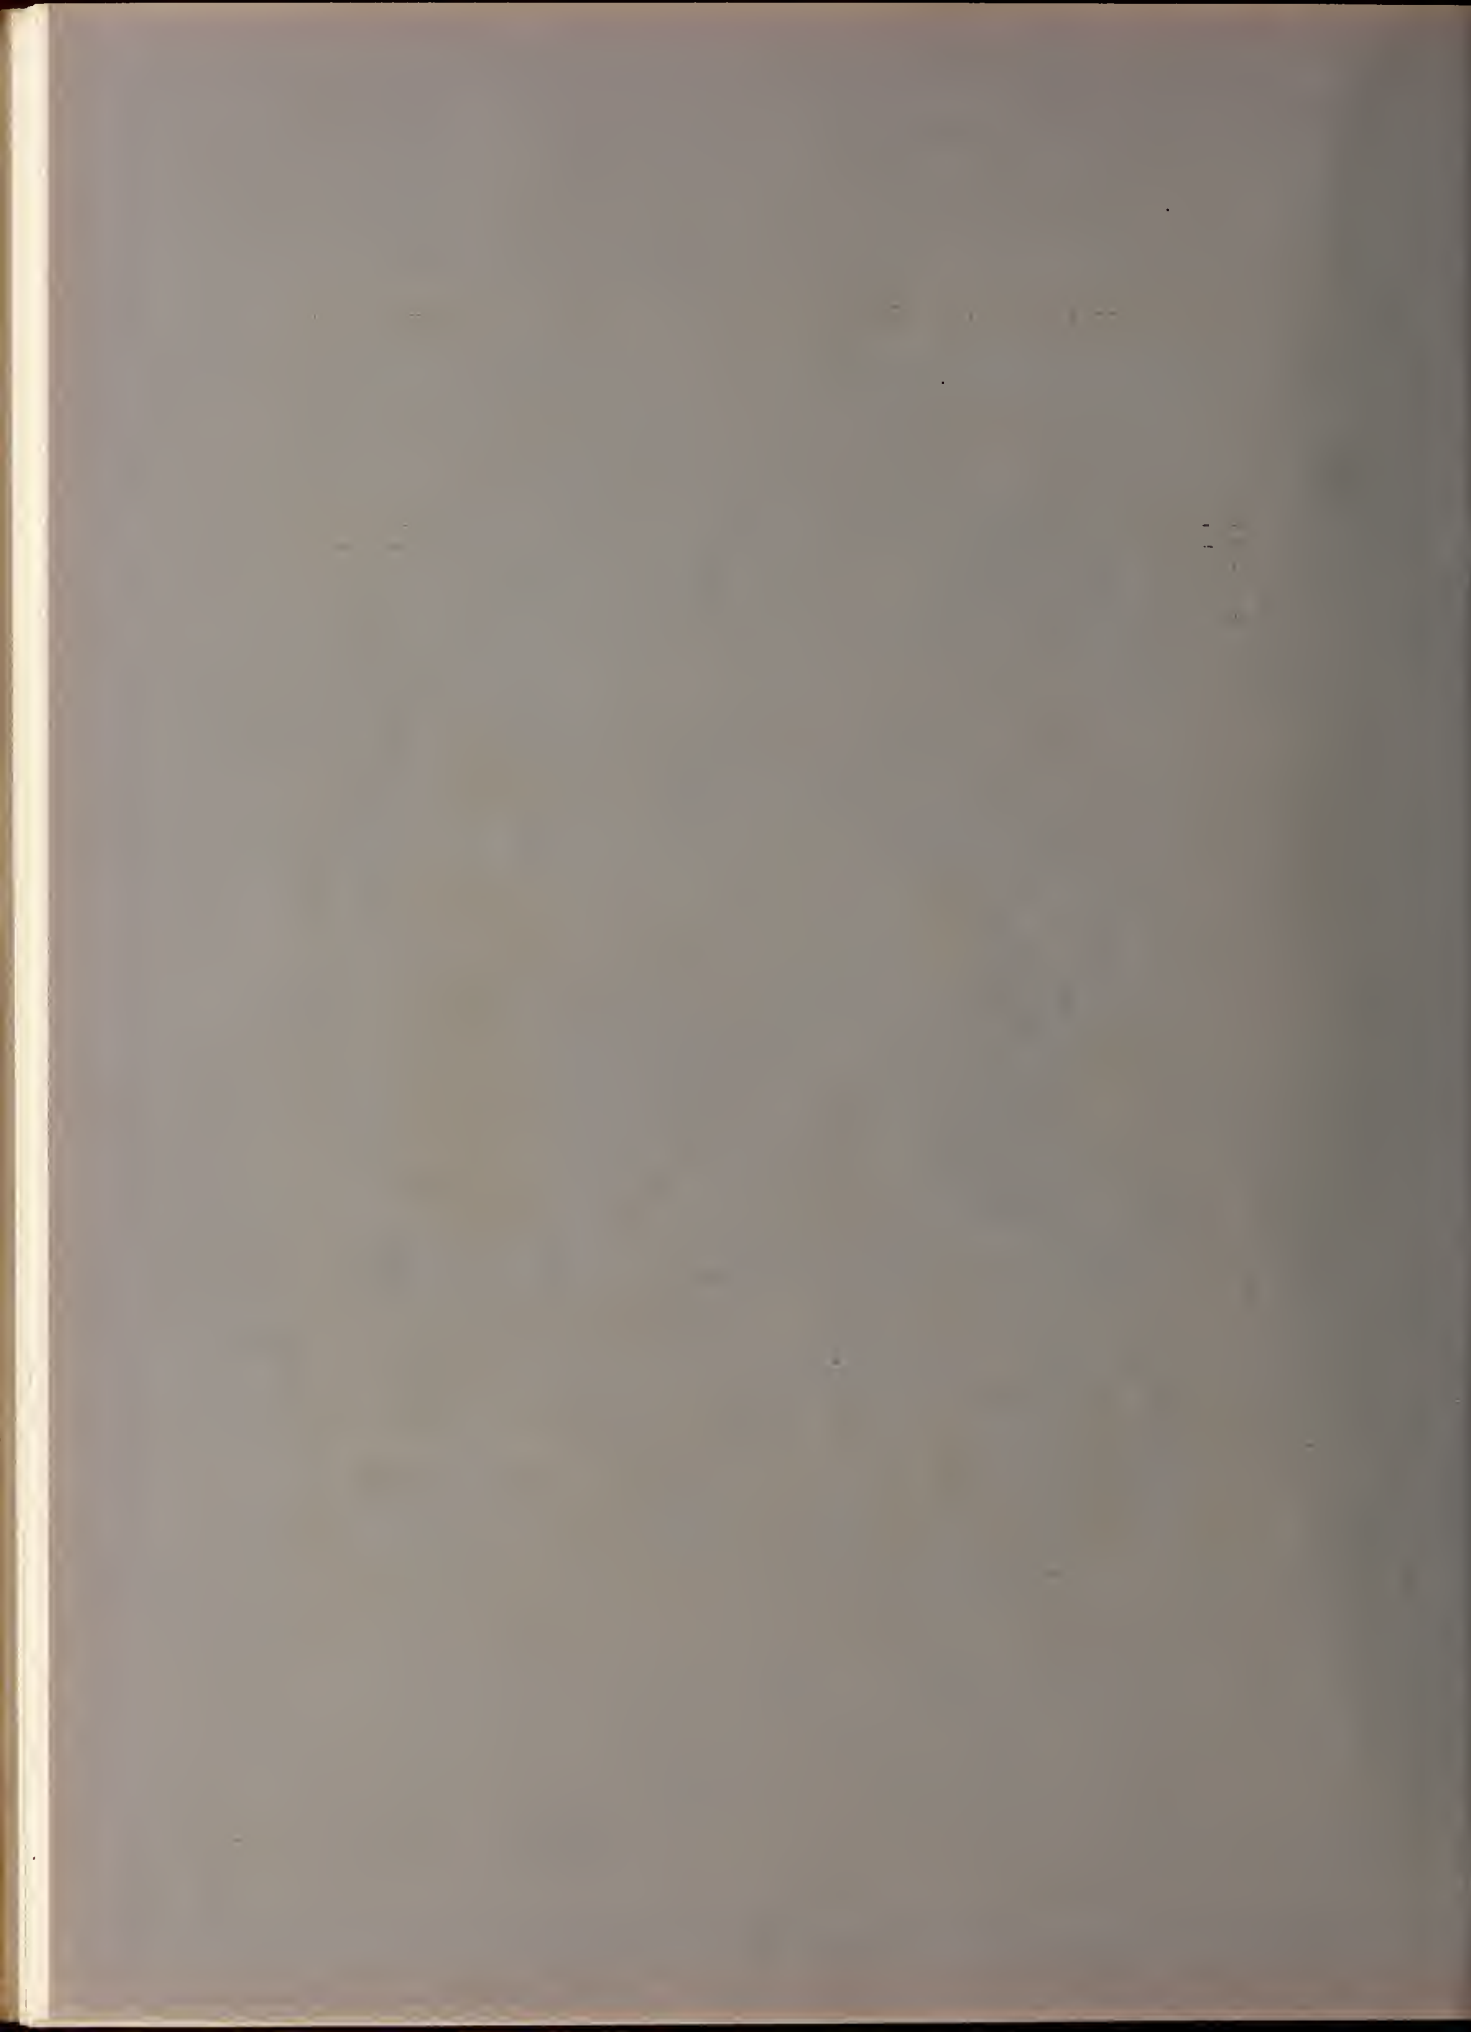

Eager, alert and assertive—
A BOSS is in her cradle! I bet
The world will have a General
In our wee, winsome Juliet!

(A wager of Mrs. Sutton in 18— which proved prophetic!)

Her face was black—
A "mammy from de Souf"—
"Listen, chile, say shet yo' mouf!"

(Origin of our Billy Guess's familiar command, "Cease all communications!")

History of the Class of 1931

I SN'T it funny how one thing leads to another? Well, that's how history is made, you know. Take for instance the day it rained last week. The rain led to my staying indoors, which in turn led me on in search of entertainment.

I was looking for a book when I came across a photograph album I had kept since '27. The first faces I saw I recognized as the property of my old classmates, Manning, Sue Martin, "Rosie," and "Boo" respectively. Manning with her long hair, Sue Martin with her boyish bob, and Rosie and Boo both the same size then that they are now. I could never forget them after all we went through together. Although Manning wasn't in our class that first year, she actually exerted herself, for once in her life, worked, and caught up with us. Anyway, we were all underclassmen together, and shared the hope that someday in the dim future, we would be allowed to go to town without a chaperon. In spite of our envy of the Juniors and Seniors, we enjoyed our first year of school life with its round of class parties, athletic and literary events, and special occasions. Speaking of the latter, I'll bet we enjoyed the Seniors' dance at the end of the year as much as the Seniors themselves.

When we first started on our long search for knowledge, namely our school career, we numbered twenty-seven but the following September we were but five—yes, the five! We did not emphasize the the quite so much, however, when we realized that we were five out of forty-one this year and surrounded by many new faces and one new building. (The old Senior Hall had been replaced by the larger and more modern Holt Hall, which accommodated Juniors as well as Seniors.)

As I turned several pages of the old album, memories of that second year came back to me at sight of some of my Sophomore sisters snapped at odd moments and sometimes "in the act" as it were. There were Yancey and Gen who kept up the class reputation in athletics, just before going to battle on the basketball court; Julia Brown in white ducks escorting a bejewelled young lady to the Junior Cotillion; "Beans" Bennett dressed up to a million and willing to wear her weeds with a smile since the Dramatic Club play was over and she had done her bit; and last and saddest, the whole class in white commencement dresses. You would have looked sad too, if you had been to the school party the night before, and knew you were saying goodbye for always to many good friends.

That snap had such'a chilling effect on me that I turned the page quickly and met the eyes of our Junior President—Jane Purrington, so capable that we pounced upon her as soon as she arrived at St. Mary's her first year and made her our leader. Of course, she was glad to be at the head of such an attractive class (we thought she would be) and promptly started helping us to have a big time.

All of the class of '31 were together that third year except Doris Chamblee. But she couldn't stay away from us long and joined our ranks again after Christmas. I think she appreciated more than anyone else our new privilege of going to town on a week day.

The talents of our class were increased a great deal that year by our new members. In athletics we gained still more prominence through Amy and "Eddie." Jane Shaffner, Betty Gray Long and Betsy Harding all helped Yancey to uphold the academic standard. Catherine Thiem, Louise Prichard, and of course, Sue Bennett and Rosie Ames brought dramatic honors to our class while, in the literary field, we were represented by Jane Purrington, who won the short story contest, and "Jonesy," who really can write poetry.

At about that point in my reminiscences, I came across a rare picture. It was Julia Bates in a devil's costume. She must have been "playing monkey" when that was taken.

It certainly did our hearts good to have charge of the Devils' Cave at the Halloween Party. At last we had our chance to make others tremble with suspense and expectation. That wasn't all we made them do, either—we were very resourceful Juniors.

Next to the devil "playing monkey" was a snapshot of Santa Claus. The only way I had of knowing the jolly old fellow was my good friend "Boo" was through inside information. You see, I helped "Boo" to fool her public at the Christmas party and I must say it was a good job. Another Christmas entertainment that was enjoyed by all (we hoped) was the Junior dance. We had to make money for the big event of the year, the Junior-Senior Banquet, and we chose the most pleasant way we knew to do it. That banquet was a momentous occasion as the evening dresses and corsages of the girls in my pictures testify. Besides all the fun it gave us, this occasion held a deeper significance for us. It made us realize that in a few more months we would be taking the places of the girls who were our guests.

This fact came home to us still more at the end of the year when we made the daisy chain for the Seniors. There were many blistered hands among the members of our class after the Sunday afternoon spent in picking daisies, and many sleepy heads after the morning we got up at five-thirty to make the chain; but the result of our work was worth the trouble. That night, the last in the year, we, the prospective Seniors of '31, serenaded the graduates and the rest of the school.

On the last pages of my photograph album, the faces of my former friends seemed to be more dignified. I suppose we were imbued with a sense of responsibility for the standard we were to uphold, and awed by the high position we found ourselves occupying in September, 1931. We were now at the top as the much admired and looked-up-to Seniors! Since ours was the most important class in school we had elected our president at the end of the previous year but she had failed to appear when the curtain opened on the last act of our career at St. Mary's. And although Fernow's absence even caused tears among certain of my classmates we soon singled out one, Bennett, from our midst who soon convinced us that we lacked nothing in our new executive. Under her guidance, we launched into our last year with a zest that would surely surmount the many obstacles in front of us (such as essays and exams.)

In spite of our new dignity, we hadn't lost any of our abilities as a class. Gen as Miss Talbot and Betty Gray as Miss Trigg in the Halloween Senior Stunt proved that and were enough to make us go down in history.

"Eddie" in pajamas and long curls set a new fashion and reminded me of our Christmas play.

On the night of February 14, I became fully convinced that Mr. Zeigfield would have strong competition if our class ever took a serious interest in vaudeville. But what's the use of putting the poor man out of business?

The next snaps were taken just before spring holidays and the Seniors looked a little peaked. You know graduation depended on those essays. Although the experience left us feeling rather vague, I think every one passed safely over that rough place; and the next thing I remember we were being entertained by the class of '32 at a banquet as lovely as ours of the year before.

The last picture in my album was that of the class of '31 in cap and gown. You know what that meant—farewells, tears, relief, joy, regret, the end, and also the beginning.

Need I say more?

Class Poem

THE light of day o'ercomes the fleeting night,
A vale of dazzling glory is displayed,
The rose and gray that usher in the light
Are with a golden brilliancy arrayed.

Thus are the gloomy clouds of darkness fled,
Covered the world lies with a pure, sweet fleece,
A crystal whiteness softly tinged with red,
The day is born and all things are at peace.

And so must we go forth to make our way.
We passed our happy school days without fame,
We learned the joyful art of work and play
Yet did it without blazoning a name.

This was our Night—and now the Dawn appears,
And even as the azure dawn of morn
Brings hope and joy, and conquers childish fears,
So now are hopes and grim ambition born.

'Tis ours to strive toward a more glorious morn
Made rosy by the light of worthy deed
Ours to relieve, to aid a world forlorn,
Ours to help wherever there be need.

Through Life's all-hopeful morn so shall we go,
Achieving, striving higher, toward our goal
Until the gray of twilight, creeping slow
Shall softly wrap us in her tender fold.

So when, dear Lord, the night for us shall fall,
O, may it take us gently, yet prepared,
Confirmed in that our living hath to all
Left benefit, in goodness amply shared.

Last Will and Testament

ON this first day of June, nineteen hundred and thirty-one, we the senior class of Saint Mary's School, being gathered together in solemn assembly on the eve of our departure into the great unknown, do testify to the following articles which we sincerely and sadly bequeath to those whom we so regretfully leave behind us. We do hereby declare all preceding wills null and void.

ARTICLE I

Sec. 1. To the Juniors, who follow where we have led, we leave our ability for acquiring, holding, and utilizing Senior privileges, our energetic participation in all school activities, especially academic, and our widespread reputation for producing musical comedies.

Sec. 2. To the Sophomores, who now, become Juniors, we leave our dignity, in hopes that they will guard it and carry it as well as we have.

ARTICLE II

Sec. 1. Rosamond Ames leaves her petit physique and Northern "brogue" to Maria Chadwick.

Sec. 2. Winifred Brickey bequeaths her ability as stage director (including sarcasm), and her undying loyalty to the Sigmas to Nancy Barnwell and Mary F. Howard.

Sec. 3. Sue Martin Capehart leaves her appreciation of Miss Lalor's humor, to Nedjy Patterson, in hopes that Nedjy will profit thereby.

Sec. 4. Mary Hall wills her brilliant Spanish career to Margaret Boney.

Sec. 5. Hazel Whitten and Genevieve Hubbard bequeath their undying friendship to Gay Johnson and Nancy Boxley.

Sec. 6. Louise Bridges leaves the habit of the constant rearrangement of her coiffure in class to Grayce Mary Justice.

Sec. 7. Nancy Jones bequeaths to the incoming Student Body President her influence, patience, and untiring efforts for the betterment of Saint Mary's.

Sec. 8. Jane Shaffer leaves her smiling countenance and her ability to concentrate, to her who is in the most need of these admirable qualities.

Sec. 9. Sue Bennett wills her ability to agree with her roommate to the Paine who needs it most.

Sec. 10. Jane Purrington bequeaths, with many sighs and heartaches the dummy for the annual, and all other necessities, plus her efficient nature to the Editor-in-Chief of the STAGE COACH of nineteen-thirty-two.

Sec. 11. Mildred Carlton wills her appreciation of a conspicuous brown roadster to Weldon Petty.

Sec. 12. Josephine Symons leaves her elocutionary powers in English N to Nancy Webb.

Sec. 13. Amy Williams wills her ability to lead the Mus to victory, to be fought over by Betty Simmons and Isabelle Mulligan.

Sec. 14. Charlotte Fitz-Simons leaves her superfluous hairpins to Alice Horsley.

Sec. 15. Arabel Cox wills her never failing sense of humor to Charlotte Davis.

Sec. 16. Lois Frazelle bequeaths her well known dramatic ability to Edith Dando.

Sec. 17. Athleen Munson wills her unique personality and cute ways to Olive Wilson.

Sec. 18. Catherine Cox leaves her ability for stealthily passing notes in Economics class, to Jane Jones.

Sec. 19. Elizabeth Collins bequeaths her timid nature and retiring air, to be divided between Kwei Sung and Kwei Chuen.

- Sec. 20. Sara Parker leaves her affection for A. T. O.'s to Nell Tyler.
- Sec. 21. Mary Adair Edwards regretfully and sorrowfully bequeaths her curls to "Angie" Graham.
- Sec. 22. Madeleine Dando bequeaths her delightful personality and reputation of being "most popular," to the most home-sick Prep in nineteen thirty-two.
- Sec. 23. Betty Gray Long leaves her undying devotion for the Sigma Lambda Literary Society and for her studies, to the incoming president of the society and to Maria Parham.
- Sec. 24. Doris Chamblee and Julia Bates Brown with sighs and sorrows bequeath their reputation for the "best kept room" to Margaret Dey and Katherine Jamieson.
- Sec. 25. Mary Long Battle leaves her happy disposition and lovable nature to Barbara Henderson.
- Sec. 26. Virginia Yancey wills not only her brilliant academic career, but her athletic victories as well, to Kathleen Hatcher.
- Sec. 27. Louise Prichard leaves her deepest sympathy for all poor seniors who will be required to room in Senior Hall next year, and therefore will be deprived of the pleasures of West Wing.
- Sec. 28. Betsy Harding bequeaths her position in the employ of Uncle Sam to the girl who has the next most curiosity.
- Sec. 29. Katherine Scoggin leaves her boisterous manners and undignified carriage (meaning posture) to Virginia Turnage and Gertrude Mott.
- Sec. 30. Katherine Thiem, Hilda Evans, and Elizabeth Weathers bequeath their reputation as the most brilliant Day Students to Ione Moye, Julia Lundy, and Caroline Mann.
- Sec. 31. Mary Manning Lynah regretfully leaves her feminine ways and graceful walk, plus her great ability on and off the stage, to Margaret Morrison.

ARTICLE III

- Sec. 1. To Dr. Way, who has not only filled our heads with knowledge, but our hearts with love, we leave our devotion and sincere thanks for an enjoyable social, and several senior privileges.
- Sec. 2. To Miss Albertson, who has helped us, stood by us, forgiven us, and placed her memory in the hearts of all, we leave our lasting love and affection.
- Sec. 3. To Miss Holt, who has aided, with a helpful hand, each of us toward graduation, we bequeath our sincere love and appreciation.
- Sec. 4. To Mrs. Marriott we leave many, many thanks for our excellent late Monday breakfasts.
- Sec. 5. To Miss Hosmer, our adviser, to Miss Sutton, our steadfast friend, and to Mr. Tucker, our always helpful business manager, we leave our love and appreciation for all they have done for us.

ARTICLE IV

- Sec. 1. To Saint Mary's, our Alma Mater, which has stamped a memory of good work, good times, and good friends upon our hearts, we leave our lasting devotion, with a promise to return from time to time, and to send each of our female offsprings to be taken under her wing.

Diary of a Senior

(With all due apologies to Mr. Pepys)

Jan. 11. (Lord's Day.) This morning I rose, got to breakfast on time, finishing toilet en route. Went to Sunday School and Church (we being forced to do same) where preacher did make very good sermon (they say, I being asleep). Received special from Johnny. Good dinner, gorged myself until miserable. Stayed home all rest hour answering letters. To chapel again in evening. After supper to meeting of Service League for first time this year. Members did argue endlessly on subjects they admitted knowing nothing about. At night to bed in another girl's room. Found at one a.m. by teacher with flashlight. To my own room and so to bed.

Jan. 12. To detention this morning for being insufficiently clad. My roommate did receive eight shillings from home, whereupon we patronized the little store; this rousing our spirits from the depths—brand new package of gum but later extracted from mouth by my Lady Davis. Am contemplating cultivating Izzy James' friendship—am interested in her closet grocery store. To infirmary this afternoon to have head examined. Quietness in night study hall bothered me much. To bed in own room.

Jan. 13. Today my unlucky day, my Lady Albertson did scold us severely in assembly—we talking too incessantly. Did have to report ourselves and receive two weeks restriction. My Lady Holt did sit on me on subject of Isaak Walton (I not being at fault because we were not acquainted). Was much displeased in chemistry—My Lady Miller giving pop written and I unprepared. Spinach for dinner, also liver. Did go visiting after dinner and learn all of latest scandal. Studied a little. Wrote one letter which was later found on floor, my Lady McLeod unable to find owner—I not aiding in search. No excitement on hall. Lights out and so to bed.

Jan. 14. Unable to finish "Kallikak Family" so betake myself to infirmary, groaning with much ado. Company of eight engaged in like manner. Pills, pills, pills, all under the pillow. Soup and crackers in bed. Did write home in wails. Feeling much better, Hygiene being over. Ice cream. Betook myself home at night.

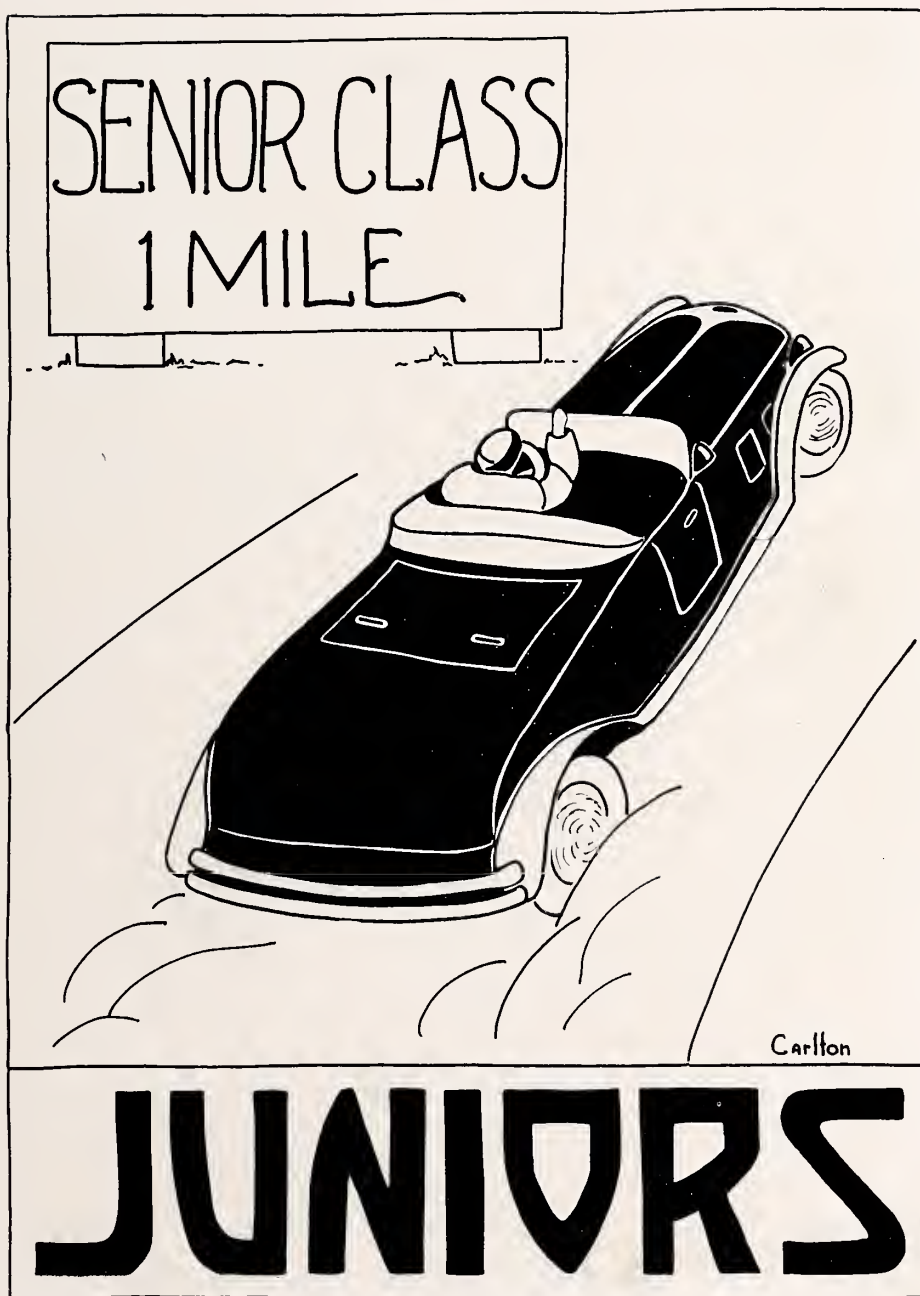

Jan. 15. Studied today. Had it to do, teachers shewing themselves hard boiled. Did study nearly an hour on English and Spanish, thoughts being on Johnny whole time. Appeared dumb in both classes. Hope to make better impression on my exams by much cramming. Wore new hose which did tear beyond redemption. Men of pleasing countenance do pass campus, flirting. Not handsome as my Johnny. To feast—mustard, onions, hot-dogs, pickles. Stomach-achedly to bed.

Jan. 16. Started reducing again today. No breakfast, no lunch, refused candy. So hungry at dinner—thirteen rolls and so to infirmary.

Jan. 20. Up by alarm at four a.m. to study for exam. Light off at four-fifteen, I being too sleepy. Two exams this morning. Finished each within hour, I knowing little concerning subjects. No exam tomorrow so five letters written in study hall—was requested to deposit gum in waste basket. Race after study hall for bath tub. Got forth promise on one. Bath after lights—not caught. Company for night (we staying lately in our own room). Ate chocolate in dark—discussed faculty. My Lady Morrison did appear suddenly. "Disperse ye villains!" Two depart, four in closet crawl out later, and so to bed.

Jan. 24. Finished last exam this morning. Perfect relaxation. Now have only Senior Essay, Annual, Senior Vaudeville, Colonial Ball, Fashion Show, and Dramatic Club play to complete before Spring vacation.

Concentration

STUDY hall is such a fascinating place,
 There's a different expression on every face
 Someone is using the dictionary—
 She must be looking up "missionary."—?

The teacher now is ringing the bell
 The noise it makes is really swell,
 But it's getting weak! Must be chewing gum
 That someone stuck on it—that was dumb!

Many let down their crowning glory—
 Some bury themselves in a story,
 One is erect enough to be a pew,
 She is actually studying—among the few.

We live to learn in life's hard study hall.
 Readers, writers, wonderers, sleepers, all—
 Why wasn't I born to be very wise
 Instead of having a pair of wandering eyes?

Trials and Jubilations

SIGMA Lambda and Epsilon Alpha Pi
Are societies founded many years ago.
They're the cause of many a tear as well as many a sigh
But when success comes, joy disperses woe.

First there's a model meeting
And all the girls compete.
Then a poem must be written
In all forms—new and obsolete.

Next follows quickly the debate
It counts more than all the rest.
And as for the short story!
It calls forth lots of zest.

As they have struggled years before us,
So we work with all our might.
And when we've passed into a memory,
More driven souls will carry on the fight.

ATHLETIC SNAPS

THRU THE WINDOW

STAGE COACH

POPULAR

MADELEINE DANDO

To popularity she answers the call.
Here's to Dando—loved by all.

ATTRACTIVE

ISABELLE MULLIGAN

Her name is Irish—but that's not enough;
She's so attractive—and that's no bluff.

STAGE COACH

INFLUENTIAL

NANCY JONES

She led us through a happy year,
To her we owe our thanks.
Her gentle influence over us all,
Reduced our many pranks.

ATHLETIC AND BEST ALL-ROUND

AMY WILLIAMS

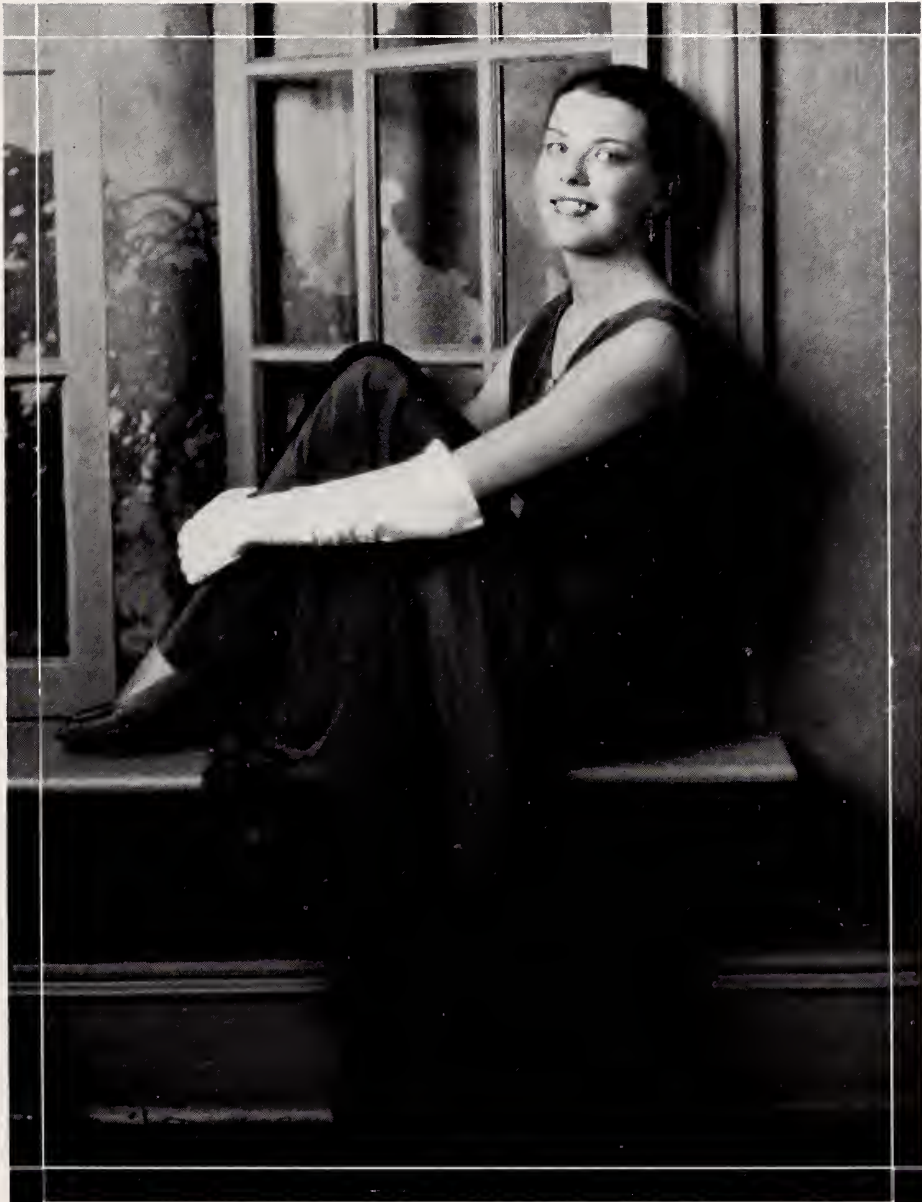

Not only athletics—but in everything else
Amy stands out—but remains herself.

CUTE

EDITH DANDO

It's hard to say just what is cute,
But one look at her and you know she'll suit.

ORIGINAL

JULIA BATES BROWN

Here she sits on a window seat,
Looking so sweet and rare.
She's original so they say,
With never a single care.

STYLISH

GAY JOHNSON

The latest style decreed by Fate
Gay will always wear.
We look on her as our Fashion Plate
And try her style to share.

EFFICIENT

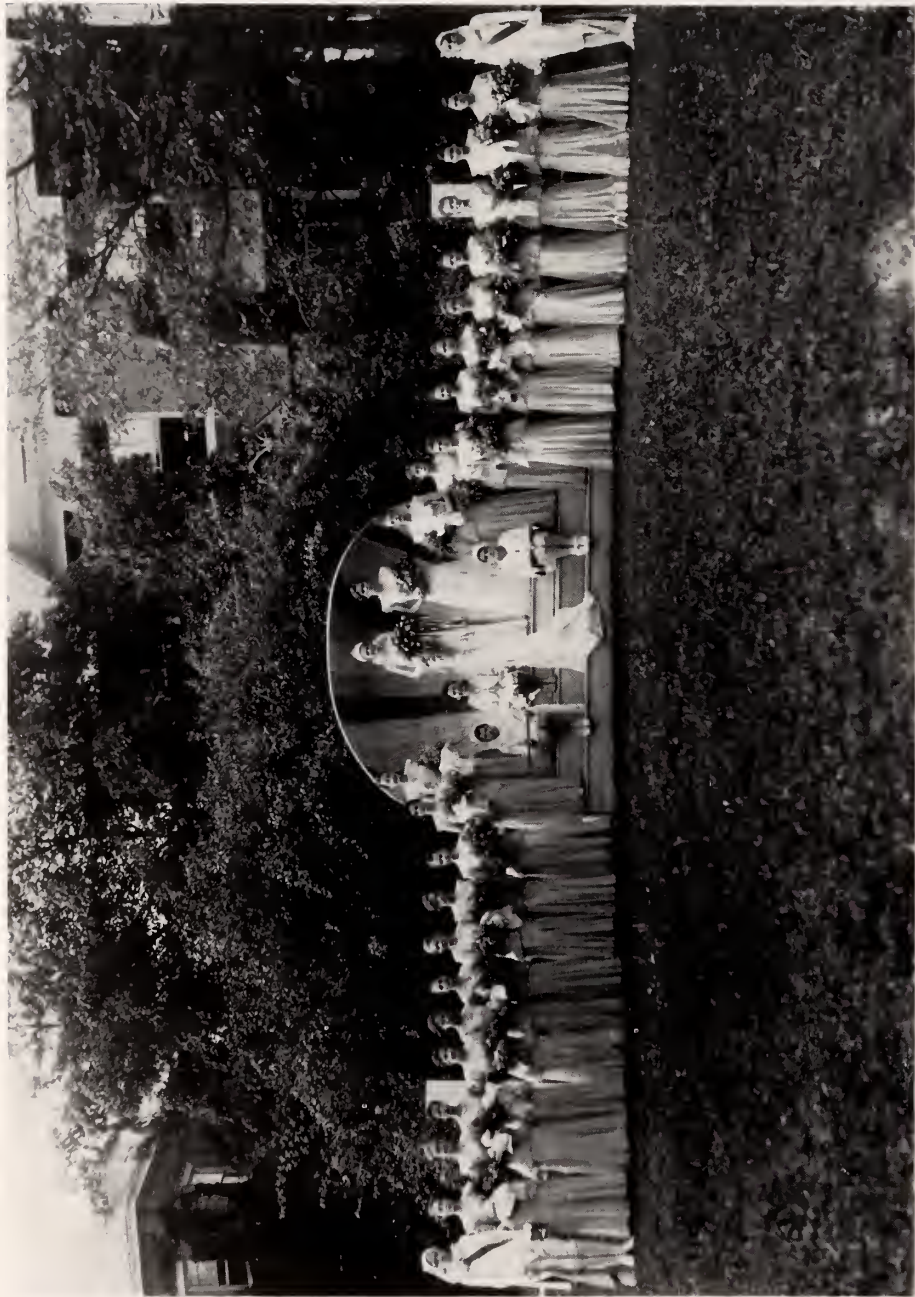

JANE PURRINGTON
What can't she do—and how well it's done!
Whether it's work or whether it's fun.

How glad we've been, Kwei Sung,
Kwei Chuen,
To've had you with us here.
Your cheerful ways and beaming
smiles
To all of us are dear.

You've lived and learned along with us
We've learned to like you so,
It's sad to think you're leaving us—
We hate to see you go.

But even when you're far away,
With other interests too,
Think sometimes of Saint Mary's friends
As they will think of you.

"EDUCATION"

[illegible]

WHAT fun we've had with the annual,
 You girls will never know.
 The cares and fears we've had for our book
 Have been a plenty, I trow.
 But the fun and the fears have been blended,
 And now we only ask
 That you take our book and enjoy it,
 And we'll be paid for the task.

Acknowledgment

Deprived of others' helpful care,
And careful help.
What would we be? Just nothin'.
An' that's the truth!

To render thanks where thanks is due
Is our desire.
But where begin, where end, we know not
An' that's the truth!

To friendly legions far and wide
As well as near,
We render thanks both just and meet.
An' that's the truth!

A Store Is Known By Its Customers

Who shops there?

Answer that question about any store and you establish the position of that store in the community.

Today, as always, the representative women of the city instinctively turn to this store to satisfy their needs and gratify their tastes.

People whose cultural background is expressed in their clothes and their homes do not shop anywhere and everywhere. It is not that ❖ they are careless of what they pay but that they are careful of what they get. They prefer an investment in satisfaction to an adventure in disappointment—which is the spirit of true economy.

The store that attracts and holds the patronage of this intelligent, discriminating element is, obviously, the logical store for every shopper.

And remember—it costs no more to shop in good company!

TO A COLLEAGUE AT LARGE—
DIVINE EINSTEIN

O Einstein,
You are divine!
Your every thought
Agrees with mine;
You've written down,
Line by line,
What I'd have done
If I'd had time.
Light goes in curves—
Space is Time. . . .
When I get out
I'll prove that I'm Napoleon, or
A Hetrodyne.
Your reputation
Won't match mine,
If they let me out—
Oh, Einstein!

LOVELY CHARM

GIVE to your selection of lighting equipment the same thoughtful care with which you select other forms of your home's decoration.

Our selection of Moe-Bridges Lighting Equipment is wonderfully complete. Every design is artistically correct — a creation whose quality and rich appearance will give you life-time pleasure.

Come in and inspect our display.

BUILDERS DREAMS

VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.

It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to interpret the ideas of the Staff and create in material form their vision.

From the art work and engravings to the finished book, this volume is the result of organized coöperation with the Staff.

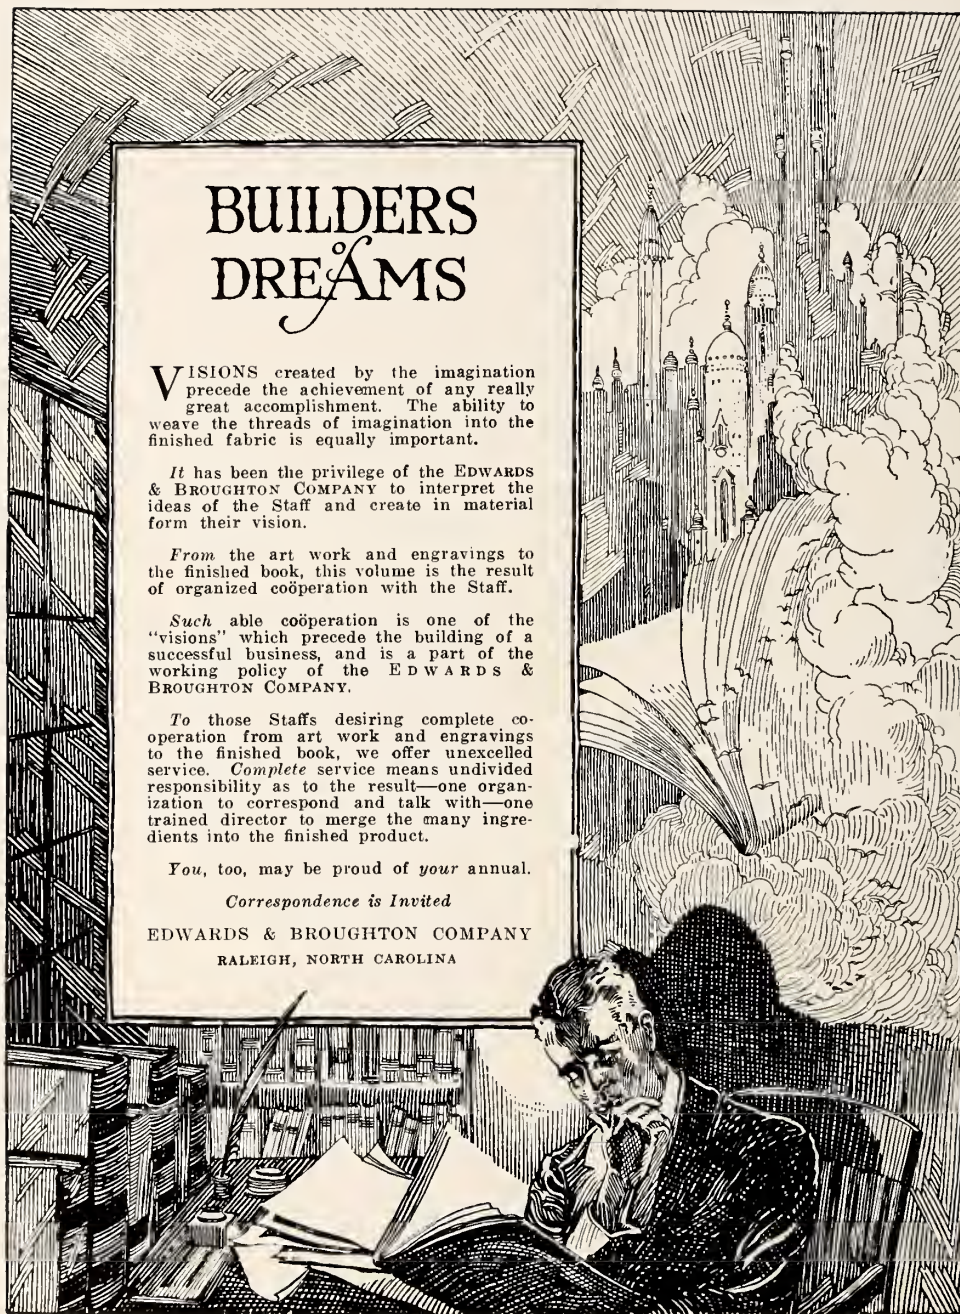

Such able coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.

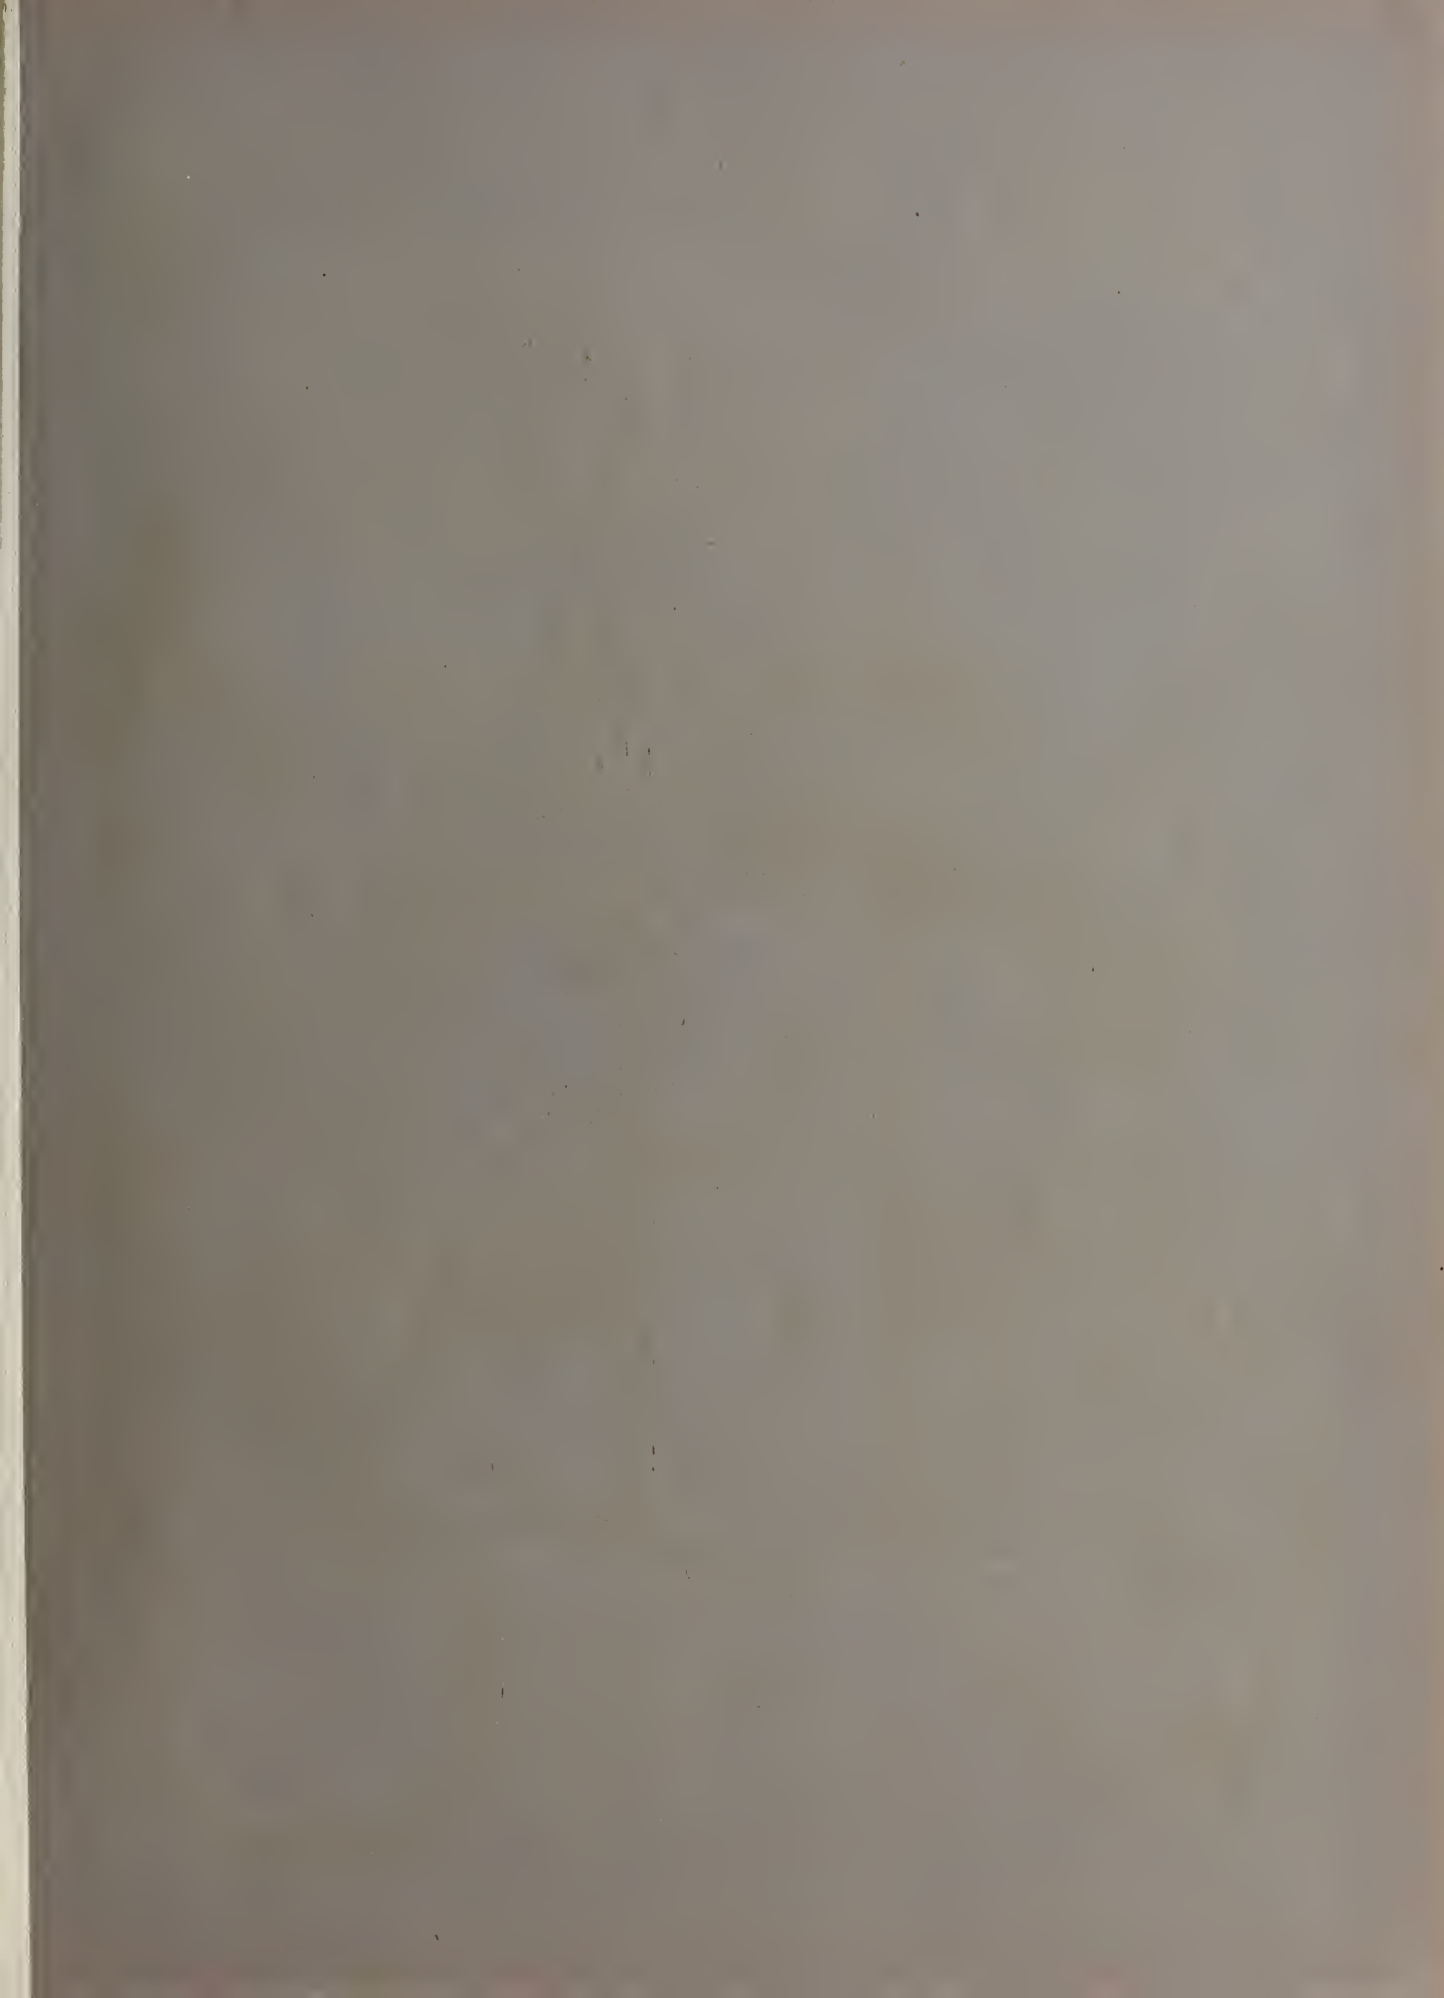

To those Staffs desiring complete coöperation from art work and engravings to the finished book, we offer unexcelled service. Complete service means undivided responsibility as to the result—one organization to correspond and talk with—one trained director to merge the many ingredients into the finished product.

You, too, may be proud of your annual.
